GOV'T. AGENTS WILL GO THE LIMIT TO KEEP RYS. RUNNING

MEDIATION EFFORTS BEING MADE IN CHICAGO BY THE WAR LABOR BOARD

GOVERNORS OF STATES EXPRESS DETERMINATION THAT RAILWAYS MUST KEEP RUNNING

(By United Press)

Pressure for peace in the threatened railway strike was brought on the railroad unions and executives today.

Government agents at Chicago and Washington made it plain that they were ready to go to the limit to keep railroads running.

In Chicago mediation efforts were being handled by the railroad labor board which met on the call of the three members of the public group who just returned from a conference with President Harding at Washington.

If the Chicago efforts fail Washington officials have under consideration measures to be taken against both the unions and railroad heads.

The determination that the strike must be halted was expressed in messages from a number of governors wired to the United Press today.

Before leaving for Chicago to meet the labor board officials of the engineers, trainmen, enginemen and firemen met in Cleveland to discuss strike plans.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 19—Repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law was demanded in a resolution by Governor John J. Blaine, of Wisconsin, to the conference of seven midwestern governors meeting here to consider ways of relieving unemployment and the freight rate problem.

Labor Board Meets Today

Chicago, Oct. 19—The United States railroad labor board met today to carry out President Harding's proposal to bring peace in the railroad labor war.

Chairman R. M. Barton of the board, said President Harding outlined to him certain broad proposals which the board will form into concrete peace proposals for presentation to the heads tomorrow.

Mr. Barton, Secretary G. W. Hangar and Ben Hooper, who are representing the public on the board, just returned from Washington where they were summoned by the president.

"The definite plan of proposed railroad peace will not be known until the members of the board have gone into every phase," Barton told the United Press today.

"We know in a certain broad way the will of the administration and will talk matters over with those members of the board representing the carriers and the workers. The members who were in Washington will give us the benefit of their observance of events while we were away."

It was believed the board will propose to the railroads that the public be given the benefit of the twelve per cent wage cut in July by immediately slashing the freight rates and that the carriers withdraw for the present their request for an additional ten per cent reduction in wages.

Strike Must Not Take Place.

New York, Oct. 19—"The railway strike must not take place."

This was the keynote of messages received by the United Press today from governors of many states.

The governors who were asked to advance suggestions for a solution of the railroad problem, put forward many recommendations, but a majority agreed that the government should step in and use whatever power is necessary to prevent the strike.

"In case this threatened strike becomes a reality, it would be the duty of the state to use every means in its

A horizontal reduction of all freight charges will not be made, but the reduction will be a cut in all commodities which play a big part in the continued high cost of living.

The rate cuts probably will apply to all grains, lumber, coal, vegetables, hay and citrus fruits. It is understood here that representatives of the public group of the railroad labor board received assurances from members of the interstate commerce commission while in conference here a few days ago that the rate cuts were imminent. Their information to this effect may be placed before the brotherhood leaders when they appear before the board in Chicago tomorrow in the hope of inducing them to rescind the strike call.

N. P. PRESIDENT HOPES AGAINST RAIL WALKOUT

CHARLES DONNELLY BELIEVES THAT STRIKE WILL BE AVOIDED "IN SOME WAY"

Spokane, Oct. 19—"I feel hopeful that a strike is going to be avoided in some way, although I could not specify on what grounds," said Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, who was in Spokane, Wash., recently.

"This strike talk has been going on for some months. Two or three months ago the unions submitted questions that the railroads were asked to answer, and the answers given were unsatisfactory to the unions.

"Personally I do not believe that a strike would have been ordered if it had not been for the announcement made recently that there could be no reduction in railroad rates until railroad wages were reduced, and as a reduction in railroad rates was generally regarded as indispensible to a business revival, an application for a further reduction in wages would be made. This definite announcement of the purpose to apply for a further wage reduction has evidently precipitated this strike order."

INJUNCTION ISSUED PRACTICALLY CLOSING N. D. BANK

IT IS TEMPORARILY RESTRAINED FROM DOING ANYTHING BUT PAYING DEPOSITORS

(By United Press)

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 19—A temporary injunction, practically closing the State Bank of North Dakota at Bismarck, has been granted by Judge Coffey of the Stutsman county district court.

The enjoiner prevents the bank from performing any other function than paying checks and drafts of depositors and restrained the bank from receiving any deposits or conducting its business in any other way. The bank cannot issue, sell or distribute bonds.

The injunction also restrains the Spitzer-Rorick Company, of Toledo, from selling or delivering any more bonds of the issue authorized by the last legislature, but held up because of market conditions.

Charges that the bank is insolvent and unfit to receive deposits were made by 14 taxpayers in the court, and the state bank is ordered to show cause Nov. 3 why the injunction should not be made permanent. This move was construed today as an effort to embarass the administration in view of the coming recall election Oct. 28. The bank is a nonpartisan administration institution. Nonpartisans today said they might ask the supreme court to take original jurisdiction in the case and vacate the injunction.

SEVEN NURSES IN A CHICAGO HOSPITAL POISONED BY CANDY

ALLEGED TO BE SENT TO ONE OF THEM BY GRATEFUL PATIENT

QUICK USE OF STOMACH PUMP MAY SAVE THEIR LIVES—ALL NEAR DEATH

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 19—Seven nurses of the West End hospital fought for their lives today after they had eaten candy containing cyanide poison. The candy which was addressed to Miss Helen Rosenfield, was home made chocolate fudge.

A typewritten card in the box read: "From a patient who was an ardent admirer, this candy was faithfully made."

Miss Rosenfield when she received the box of candy met other nurses and offered them some.

In addition to Miss Rosenfield the others desperately ill are: Theresa Ihfe, Alma Dormfield, Helen Leslie, Anna Ruhle, Daisy Casey and Grace Breakstone.

Analysis of the candy by physicians showed it contained enough poison to kill every person in the hospital. Every portion and crumb of the candy contained poison.

Cyanide takes life quicker than any other poison, Dr. D. D. Valin, chemist at the hospital, said. It usually comes in a few minutes.

Within a few minutes after every girl had eaten the candy they were writhing in agony and then fell unconscious. Quick use of stomach pumps saved their lives.

Two brothers, whom police said were in love with Miss Rosenfield, were questioned in connection with the case. Authorities added they have information that both brothers boasted that Miss Rosenfield was his fiancee. These men denied any knowledge of the plot.

Dr. Frank Miller, hospital staff surgeon, said that examination of the candy proved it was made by someone with expert knowledge of poison and their properties.

According to Dr. Miller red pepper was mixed with the poison to make it more effective.

Postal authorities stepped into the case in an attempt to trace the box. The theory that the candy was sent by a discharged and disgruntled person in desire for revenge was also investigated.

The brothers who were questioned by the police, but against whom no charges have been preferred, are Ben and William Zimmerman, who make their home with their sister, Mrs. Clara Kraus.

The Zimmermans, according to police, said they both were in love with Miss Rosenfield and said she had promised to marry each of them.

Mrs. Kraus it was said, had visited the hospital Monday night with Will and advised the nurse to marry him in preference to Ben.

Miss Rosenfield evaded the issue by telling Will she was keeping company with a "swell fellow", and said she had a preference for "Irish boys."

She broke off the interview by saying she must leave for night school, Zimmerman told police. "My sister and I waited outside the hospital but she did not appear." Hospital attaches said the nurse went out a rear end to evade the two.

Japan Will Propose Non-Fortification Of Certain Islands, Pacific

HUGE STILL SEIZED IN FEDERAL RAID ON RIVER ISLAND

Minneapolis, Oct. 19—Heavily armed, a squad of prohibition enforcement agents and policemen swooped down on an island in the Mississippi river, six miles south of South St. Paul, and after a hunt through thick underbrush, discovered a huge still in operation in a shack. The still, one of the largest yet confiscated, federal agents said, was "warm" when they entered the shack, but a search of the island failed to disclose the operators.

Five federal agents and four policemen searched along the shore of the island for some time last night before they discovered a path which wound up from the shore through heavy underbrush. High up on the is land they found a shack. The still and nine barrels of mash ready for distillation were seized.

This raid and several others last night and today resulted in the arrest of six proprietors of soft drink bars and five bartenders, who are held in the Hennepin county jail, warrants for the arrest of three more proprietors, and a large quantity of moonshine, extracts and mash confiscated.

PRESIDENT OPPOSED TO ANY ENTANGLING ALLIANCE ANY KIND

SO STATES IN SPEECH MADE ON SPOT WHERE CORNWALLIS SURRENDERED TO GEORGE WASHINGTON

(By United Press)

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19—President Harding here today announced his unequivocal opposition to the United States becoming a party to any "alliance in arms" or the submerging of its nationality to a world soverignty. Standing on the spot where the British general, Cornwallis, ended the revolutionary war by surrendering to George Washington who opposed entangling alliances through birth of the republic, the president indicated he hoped the forthcoming limitation of armaments would bring an "understanding and co-operation endeavoring to shun the alliances in arms."

The president's speech was taken to mean that he is opposed to suggestions from abroad that the United States join the Anglo-American alliance or ratify the triparte treaty with Germany and France for the defense of the latter.

President Harding emphasized that inter dependence among the nations is necessary, but asserted emphatically that "no program which seeks to submerge nationality will succeed."

AMPLE STOCKS OF FUEL, SUGAR, BACON, FLOUR, EXCEPT GAS

MINNEAPOLIS WHOLESALERS REPORTED AS FEARING NO STRIKE

BRAINERD HAS FUEL, OVER HALF OF YEAR'S COAL ALREADY DISTRIBUTED

Brainerd is as well supplied in the way of food and fuel as any Northwest town, taking into consideration the possibility of a strike and tie up of traffic October 30. The Northern Pacific railway, it will be remembered, is in Group No. 1 of the railways called out on that date. The Minnesota & International railway date, as near as can be ascertained, is November 5.

The general feeling of the public is not one of alarm. Many believe a compromise or settlement may be effected before the strike date.

Food Supply in Brainerd

There are considerable stocks of flour, sugar, bacon and other staples in Brainerd. The Brainerd Grocery company early took into consideration the possibility of a strike and ordered additional supplies of sugar and other groceries. Flour men have stocked up. Swift & Company, with the ordinary run of business, carry supplies to keep the town going two weeks.

Latest advices from Minneapolis wholesalers and St. Paul packing houses is that a tie up is not anticipated, but, to be on the safe side, a comprehensive system of trucking to every part of the state has ben mapped out and this army of trucks will be flung into the breach just as soon as the wheels of any railway cease to move.

Duluth is also making the same preparations.

Fuel Stocks

Brainerd was never in better shape for fuel. It is really better than any other town of its size in the state. Over half the year's supply of coal in Brainerd has ben distributed and is in the consumers' hands. More coal is coming. Hundreds of citizens bought their coal in the summer and now have their winter's supply in their bins.

If the coal should be tied up, the dealers expect to follow a rationing system whereby the stocks will last at least 90 days. There is no shortage of wood.

Gasoline

Gasoline stocks of Brainerd are not heavy. Brainerd has storage for over 100,000 gallons, but not half that amount is on hand. The Standard Oil company has a tank car on the road from Wyoming and it is slowly traveling eastward to Brainerd. It is estimated that the normal consumption of gasoline in the Brainerd territory is 50,000 gallons a month, as stated by Standard Oil Co. filling station men. Reports today are to the effect that all Standard Oil filling company stations will be heavily stocked for any contingencies.

Gasoline Storage

Here is a list of gasoline tank storage in Brainerd, approximately computed in gallons: Standard Oil Co. 27,000; Sinclair 45,000; Turcotte Bros. 24,000; Hoffman 24,000; Lively 550; Bane 550; Stadlbauer 550; Herrmann 550; Koering 550; Gustafson 550; Roskos 280; Sherlund 280; Johnson Bros. 240; Imgrund 120.

If this tankage is filled the Brainerd district would continue to supply gasoline demands for two months.

Cyanide takes life quicker than any other poison, Dr. D. D. Valin, chemist at the hospital, said. It usually comes in a few minutes.

Within a few minutes after every girl had eaten the candy they were writhing in agony and then fell unconscious. Quick use of stomach pumps saved their lives.

Two brothers, whom police said were in love with Miss Rosenfield, were questioned in connection with the case. Authorities added they have information that both brothers boasted that Miss Rosenfield was his fiancee. These men denied any knowledge of the plot.

Dr. Frank Miller, hospital staff surgeon, said that examination of the candy proved it was made by someone with expert knowledge of poison and their properties.

According to Dr. Miller red pepper was mixed with the poison to make it more effective.

Postal authorities stepped into the case in an attempt to trace the box. The theory that the candy was sent by a discharged and disgruntled person in desire for revenge was also investigated.

The brothers who were questioned by the police, but against whom no charges have been preferred, are Ben and William Zimmerman, who make their home with their sister, Mrs. Clara Kraus.

The Zimmermans, according to police, said they both were in love with Miss Rosenfield and said she had promised to marry each of them.

Mrs. Kraus it was said, had visited the hospital Monday night with Will and advised the nurse to marry him in preference to Ben.

Miss Rosenfield evaded the issue by telling Will she was keeping company with a "swell fellow", and said she had a preference for "Irish boys."

She broke off the interview by saying she must leave for night school. Zimmerman told police. "My sister and I waited outside the hospital but she did not appear." Hospital attaches said the nurse went out a rear end to evade the two.

Japan Will Propose Non-Fortification Of Certain Islands, Pacific

Washington, Oct. 19—Japan will bring up the question of nonfortification of certain islands in the Pacific, strategic in naval warfare in the Washington conference on limitation of armaments, it was learned today.

Japan is expected to propose an agreement, mainly with the United States, not to fortify further certain islands and propose to dismantle to some extent existing fortifications.

HUGE STILL SEIZED IN FEDERAL RAID ON RIVER ISLAND

Minneapolis, Oct. 19—Heavily armed, a squad of prohibition enforcement agents and policemen swooped down on an island in the Mississippi river, six miles south of South St. Paul, and after a hunt through thick underbrush, discovered a huge still in operation in a shack. The still, one of the largest yet confiscated, federal agents said, was "warm" when they entered the shack, but a search of the island failed to disclose the operators.

Five federal agents and four policemen searched along the shore of the island for some time last night before they discovered a path which wound up from the shore through heavy underbrush. High up on the is land they found a shack. The still and nine barrels of mash ready for distillation were seized.

This raid and several others last night and today resulted in the arrest of six proprietors of soft drink bars and five bartenders, who are held in the Hennepin county jail, warrants for the arrest of three more proprietors, and a large quantity of moonshine, extracts and mash confiscated.

PRESIDENT OPPOSED TO ANY ENTANGLING ALLIANCE ANY KIND

SO STATES IN SPEECH MADE ON SPOT WHERE CORNWALLIS SURRENDERED TO GEORGE WASHINGTON

(By United Press)

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19—President Harding here today announced his unequivocal opposition to the United States becoming a party to any "alliance in arms" or the submerging of its nationality to a world soverignty. Standing on the spot where the British general, Cornwallis, ended the revolutionary war by surrendering to George Washington who opposed entangling alliances through birth of the republic, the president indicated he hoped the forthcoming limitation of armaments would bring an "understanding and co-operation endeavoring to shun the alliances in arms."

The president's speech was taken to mean that he is opposed to suggestions from abroad that the United States join the Anglo-American alliance or ratify the triparte treaty with Germany and France for the defense of the latter.

President Harding emphasized that inter dependence among the nations is necessary, but asserted emphatically that "no program which seeks to submerge nationality will succeed."

AMPLE STOCKS OF FUEL, SUGAR, BACON, FLOUR, EXCEPT GAS

MINNEAPOLIS WHOLESALERS REPORTED AS FEARING NO STRIKE

BRAINERD HAS FUEL, OVER HALF OF YEAR'S COAL ALREADY DISTRIBUTED

Brainerd is as well supplied in the way of food and fuel as any Northwest town, taking into consideration the possibility of a strike and tie up of traffic October 30. The Northern Pacific railway, it will be remembered, is in Group No. 1 of the railways called out on that date. The Minnesota & International railway date, as near as can be ascertained, is November 5.

The general feeling of the public is not one of alarm. Many believe a compromise or settlement may be effected before the strike date.

Food Supply in Brainerd

There are considerable stocks of flour, sugar, bacon and other staples in Brainerd. The Brainerd Grocery company early took into consideration the possibility of a strike and ordered additional supplies of sugar and other groceries. Flour men have stocked up. Swift & Company, with the ordinary run of business, carry supplies to keep the town going two weeks.

Latest advices from Minneapolis wholesalers and St. Paul packing houses is that a tie up is not anticipated, but, to be on the safe side, a comprehensive system of trucking to every part of the state has ben mapped out and this army of trucks will be flung into the breach just as soon as the wheels of any railway cease to move.

Duluth is also making the same preparations.

Fuel Stocks

Brainerd was never in better shape for fuel. It is really better than any other town of its size in the state. Over half the year's supply of coal in Brainerd has ben distributed and is in the consumers' hands. More coal is coming. Hundreds of citizens bought their coal in the summer and now have their winter's supply in their bins.

If the coal should be tied up, the dealers expect to follow a rationing system whereby the stocks will last at least 90 days. There is no shortage of wood.

Gasoline

Gasoline stocks of Brainerd are not heavy. Brainerd has storage for over 100,000 gallons, but not half that amount is on hand. The Standard Oil company has a tank car on the road from Wyoming and it is slowly traveling eastward to Brainerd. It is estimated that the normal consumption of gasoline in the Brainerd territory is 50,000 gallons a month, as stated by Standard Oil Co. filling station men. Reports today are to the effect that all Standard Oil filling company stations will be heavily stocked for any contingencies.

Gasoline Storage

Here is a list of gasoline tank storage in Brainerd, approximately computed in gallons: Standard Oil Co. 27,000; Sinclair 45,000; Turcotte Bros. 24,000; Hoffman 24,000; Lively 550; Bane 550; Stadlbauer 550; Herrmann 550; Koering 550; Gustafson 550; Roskos 280; Sherlund 280; Johnson Bros. 240; Imgrund 120.

If this tankage is filled the Brainerd district would continue to supply gasoline demands for two months.

WILL NOT WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM RHINE IMMEDIATELY

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19—Ratification of the treaty with Germany does not mean that American troops will be returned from Germany in the near future, it was learned from a member of President Harding's party today.

"The American flag will continue to fly over the Rhine," he said. "Withdrawal of the entire American force will come only in due course of time," he added.

FARMHAND JAILED IN DEATH OF 2 FROM POISON MOONSHINE

Minneapolis, Oct. 19—Charged with murder, Fred Roman, a farmhand, is in the Swift county jail at Benson, following the death of two farmers who drank moonshine whisky in which strychnine had been placed. One of the victims was Pau Reinhart of Murdock, employer of Roman. The other was Herman Schwenk, also of Murdock, a friend of Reinhart who drank one glass of the poisoned moonshine while visiting at Reinhart's farm house.

The two farmers died four months ago but Roman was arrested only yesterday after an investigation by Archie A. Buck, formerly deputy sheriff of Hennepin county, who was called in by John R. Davis, Swift county attorney, when relatives of the dead men called his attention to mysterious circumstances connected with the deaths.

Strychnine poisoning was shown by an analysis of moonshine whisky, of which they had both partaken, made by a Minneapolis chemist at the instance of Mr. Davis.

The Misfortunes of Brainerd

The history of Brainerd is that of one long fight against misfortune. In July, 1872, its very existence was threatened by the Indians. The famous Blueberry War followed, and ended with the hanging of two half-breeds in front of the "Last Turn" Saloon.

In 1875 the first railroad bridge across the river was crushed by a freight train. In 1883, one year after its completion, the Northern Pacific road failed and 800 shopmen were laid off. In '86 the cut-off from Little Falls to Staples took the coast trains away and left Brainerd on a side track. The shops were moved to Como and this time Brainerd lost 600 men and their families.

But she fought it out and recovered only to meet another reverse a few years later when the forest of Gregory Park was leveled in a storm. Then she went to work and remade the beautiful park.

Brainerd has come through all her losses and struggles, a finer and better city than ever. This Bank is justly proud of Brainerd and is going to do more than ever to help citizens become still more prosperous.

Little Money Saver Says:-

You can buy paint two ways, by the gallon or by the square foot. The man who wants what he pays for, buys it by the square foot because the paint that will cover the most surface is cheaper.

Blood's paint will always be your choice if you buy paint by the square foot because it will cover from one-third to one-half more surface than most paints.

When you again have need for paint, try BLOOD'S and if you are not satisfied that you have bought the best paint made, you may have your money back.

Little Money Saver Says:-

You can buy paint two ways, by the gallon or by the square foot. The man who wants what he pays for, buys it by the square foot because the paint that will cover the most surface is cheaper.

Blood's paint will always be your choice if you buy paint by the square foot because it will cover from one-third to one-half more surface than most paints.

When you again have need for paint, try BLOOD'S and if you are not satisfied that you have bought the best paint made, you may have your money back.

The Misfortunes of Brainerd

The history of Brainerd is that of one long fight against misfortune. In July, 1872, its very existence was threatened by the Indians. The famous Blueberry War followed, and ended with the hanging of two half-breeds in front of the "Last Turn" Saloon.

In 1875 the first railroad bridge across the river was crushed by a freight train. In 1883, one year after its completion, the Northern Pacific road failed and 800 shopmen were laid off. In '86 the cut-off from Little Falls to Staples took the coast trains away and left Brainerd on a side track. The shops were moved to Como and this time Brainerd lost 600 men and their families.

But she fought it out and recovered only to meet another reverse a few years later when the forest of Gregory Park was leveled in a storm. Then she went to work and remade the beautiful park.

Brainerd has come through all her losses and struggles, a finer and better city than ever. This Bank is justly proud of Brainerd and is going to do more than ever to help citizens become still more prosperous.

BRAINERD DEFEATED CROSBY-IRONTON

Local High Gained 13 to 6 Victory in the First Game of Fotball Played this Season

400 WILD-EYED FANS ON HAND

Witnessed the Game at Koering Field on Saturday, Enthusiasm Ran Riot That Day

(Contributed by D. C.)

Yes, Brainerd won. Coach Rosel's cohorts took the range boys into camp with a 13 to 6 score. Both teams fought hard while the crowd went "cuckoo" with excitement. Crosby, however, failed to penetrate Brainerds line for any material gains and as a last resort they opened an aerial attack on Brainerd which, had it been used earlier in the game, might have made a different story then the one we have to present.

On the other hand, had it not been for Orth's costly fumble in the first quarter Brainerd might have held her opponents scoreless.

Captain Heikkinen and Erickson of Brainerd both deserve honorable mention for their long runs. Heikkinen completing Burud's pass to McQuoid on his own 40 yard line, ran 60 yards in the first quarter for a touchdown. Evading half a dozen Crosby men, Erickson preformed a like feat when he completed Heikkinen's pass to him in the last quarter.

The Game by Quarters

Crosby kicked off to Brainerd. Cook received the ball and carried it for 15 yards. Hess made three yards around left end. Heikkinen's pass to Orth was incomplete. Cook made two yards through center. Orth dropped back to punt, and fumbled. Crosby's ball on Brainerd's 45 yard line. Young made 2 through center. Burud made four more around left end. Crosby passed but the pass was incomplete. Crosby passed again, McQuoid carrying the ball over for a touchdown. Crosby missed goal kick. Crosby kicked off, Carlson carrying the ball for 10 yards. Erickson made 8 yards on an end run. Cook made two more through center. Crosby penailzed five yards for off side. Hess passes to Orth, incomplete. Carlson broke through for 6 yards but lost the ball on a hard tackle. Crosby's ball on their 45 yard line. Heikkinen completed a Crosby pass and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. The crowd went crazy. Orth kicked a beautiful goal. Brainerd kicked to Crosby. Crosby's ball on Brainerd's 20 yard line. First quarter Crosby 6, Brainerd 7.

Second Quarter

Crosby tried to break through Brainerd's line 3 times but couldn't make yardage so they punted; Cook fumbled and Montpas recovered the ball. Young made 5 around left end. Brainerd buckled down now and Crosby failed to make yardage. Crosby punted on their last down. Brainerd's ball on their 35 yard line. Heikkinen broke through Crosby's right wing for five. Hess made two more in the same hole. Cook made another five through the same place. Brainerd passed but failed to complete it. Just as the half ended Heikkinen got away, off an end run and with excellent interference ran 55 yards for a touchdown that did not count. Brainerd 7, Crosby 6.

Third Quarter

Brainerd kicked off to Crosby who returned it to Brainerd's 40 yard line. All during the 3rd quarter Crosby pounded Brainerd's line mercilessly but in vain. The blue and white were stubborn and refused to give a foot. During this quarter both teams held the ball for a period only to lose it again to their opponents because they failed to make yardage. Third quarter, Crosby's ball in the middle of the field.

Fourth Quarter

Crosby tried for the last time to break through Brainerd's line, but without success. They could not make the required 10 yards so lost the ball. Brainerd was anxious for another touchdown. The team exerted themeslves to the limit and in less than 3 minutes they had pushed the ball for 15 yards. Brainerd pulled a long pass on their first down, Hess to Erickson, that put the game on ice for Brainerd. The rugged little Brainerd end ran 65 yards for a touchdown, while the crowd acted like a bunch of maniacs. Brainerd was not allowed to kick goal, because Erickosn did not take the ball directly out from behind the posts. Brainerd kicked off to Crosby who returned it to their 45 yard line. With but a few minutes to play, Crosby fought hard for a touchdown. On a series of short successive passes Crosby managed to get within 15 yards of her goal. The game ended with a conference of Crosby's backfield.

Next Saturday Brainerd journeys to Crosby for a return game. Brainerd feels confident of repeating the victory and making them like it.

Lillian Eubank

Lillian Eubank will sing in Brainerd Sunday afternoon, October 23, at the New Park theatre under the auspices of the Brainerd Musical club.

Not since the days of Louise Homer has there been an American mezzo-soprano to create such a profound impression upon American audiences as Lillian Eubank. Miss Eubank is one of our best opera singers and has sung many big roles in the Metropolitan and Chicago companies. She made her debut in New York during the days of Century Opera Company, which gave opera in English for two seasons. She was a young girl then not out of her teens. It was remarkable to see her develop. Coming to New York as a stranger within a short time she had won a following that many a widely known prima donna would have boasted with pride. But her ambition was to get with the Metropolitan. She did not clamor for leading parts. She was content to climb the ladder rung by rung. Fortune favored her and when the English Opera Company gave up "the ghost" the directors took Miss Eubank to the Broadway Temple of Music.

Later she was called by the Chicago Opera Association, to sing leading parts. She more than made good. Now Miss Eubank has won success in the concert field. Real success has crowned the conert singing. Everywhere she appears the audiences want her back.

Those who love rich, mellow tones should not miss the opportunity of hearing her on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23.

Superstition Protects Spider.

There are traditions that hold the spider sacred. The French have a motto presaging bad luck for him who kills a spider in the morning; and there are old rhymes and warnings that those who wish to live and prosper will spare the life of this animal—it is not an insect, as most of us used to believe until entomologists informed us to the contrary.

MARKETING THE "SPUDS"

At this season of the year, when farmers are marketing their potatoes and thrifty housewives are putting in their winter's supply of "spuds," there is naturally quite a general interest in the condition of the crop and the prices asked. The October crop report of the United States Bureau of Markets and Estimates tells the story for potato producers in Minnesota, since a fairly accurate crop estimate for this section of the country can be made at this time. The estimate just made gives a yield for this year of 346,000,000 bushels in the whole country, which is 54,000,000 below the normal yield of approximately 400,000,000 bushels. The total crop for Minnesota in 1920 was 28,000,000 bushels; the estimate for this year is 23,000,000, a shortage of 5,000,000 bushels.

The normal consumption of potatoes in this country is placed by the statisticians at 3.8 bushels per capita, and the October estimates this year give only 3.26 bushels per capita. So it seems likely enough that there will this year not be enough potatoes to meet the demand, which of course means that the farmers will probably receive good prices for their crops. The latest quotations at Princeton, the potato center of Northern Minnesota, ranged from $1.00 to $1.25 per 100 lbs. for Ohios to $1.75 to $2.05 for Triumphs. The Princeton Union, however, says the market "is a trifle weaker, due to heavy shipments to the large central markets, which virtually glutted them."

BELGIAN INDUSTRIES HURT

A year ago the Belgian iron and steel trade was enjoying unprecedented activity and selling its products throughout the world, but today it is in a lamentable condition. The mills are shut down and fires have been drawn from many of the blast furnaces. This is due to the fact that Belgium finds itself unable to compete with Germany, which not only has a far lower scale of wages than Belgium, but which maintains in its steel and iron industries a ten-hour work day, in the face of Belgium's eight-hour law. The prostration of the steel industry in Belgium has created a very serious labor situation. The government is issuing daily food allowances to thousands of workers.

The last official report of the British Board of Trade shows that England's exports, compared with a year ago, have declined near 50 per cent, and that the largest item of loss is in her iron and steel exports. The report shows that while English mills of all kinds are closing down because of lack of demand for goods, German manufacturers in the same line cannot fill the orders they have on hand and in some instances they have already sold in advance their 1922 output.

Do we want the same conditions here, or shall we protect the American manufacturer and the American workman with import duties sufficient to cover the difference in the cost of production?

KLAN BARED IN TEXAS

The nefarious Ku Klux Klan, which is attracting wide attention throughout the country at present, is held to violate the state constitution and the penal code in an opinion handed down by the attorney general of Texas. The opinion was given at the request of the governor, who desired to learn the status of the Klan in Texas. The governor immediately issued instructions to peace officers of the state to enforce the laws as construed by the opinion of the attorney general.

Similar action should be promptly taken in every state where this un-American fraternity has made its poisonous presence known. It should not be tolerated anywhere in free America. This is no country for masked parades, or masked outrages.

Up in Beltrami county about 20,000 acres of land have been cleared of stumps this year, against an average of only 3,000 acres annually prior to this. This speaks well for the enterprising farmers of Beltrami county

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE CALLED TO MEET CRISIS IN ANGLO-JAP. RELATIONS

DECISION REACHED SUDDENLY WHEN CANADA CREATED DEADLOCK AT LONDON

By . L. BRADFORD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
(Copyright, 1921, United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 19.—In the far-reaching expanses of the Pacific and the Far East may be found the impelling cause that prompted President Harding to call the Washington Disarmament Conference.

To Washington, the world looked for the actual step to bring the powers into conference to discuss means of meeting the demand of peoples everywhere for relief from the burdens of maintaining ever-growing war machines.

The conference was not specially planned by the Harding Administration when it came into office.

The conclusion that the time was ripe came upon Hughes suddenly, with a culmination of world events, which threw the question up to the United States. A decision to call the conference forthwith was reached and executed swiftly by Harding and Hughes that same day, July 9.

The situation in which the two greatest nations of the world—the United States and Great Britain—found themselves last July, can be summed up briefly as follows:

These two leading powers, bound by natural ties of race, color and speech, were at the cross-roads. It was obvious that the plans of the far-away empire of Japan were running counter to the principles and policies of the United States in the Pacific and the Far East. Was Great Britain, for reasons, of political and commercial expediency, to continue this situation, and, undoubtedly thereby, aggravate it by pledging herself again in alliance with Japan, and so aligning herself indirectly against the United States in this dangerous situation?

So, the crux of the situation which has resulted in the forthcoming Washington conference, narrowed down from the broad description of "the Pacific and the Far East," was Japan.

The Imperial conference of British Dominion Premiers was meeting in London with the heads of the home government the latter part of June and in the early days of last July. And while there was never any public, confidential, direct or indirect statement to this effect by any administration spokesmen, every well-informed newspaper correspondent in Washington knew that the United States government was utterly opposed to a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, the principal question up for discussion in the Imperial conference.

When the Prime Ministers of the British Dominions went to London for the Imperial conference, Premier Meighen, of Canada, announced in no uncertain terms that Canada was opposed to a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and that in this question, Canada's interests lay with those of the United States.

Premier Hughes, of Australia, seemed to favor the Alliance, while Premier Massey, of New Zealand, apparently was wavering between opposition to the Alliance and favoring it. Premier Meighan remained adamant in his opposition to the Alliance. He served notice on the British government that if the Alliance were renewed, he would take the question before the Canadian Parliament. For a Dominion to pass on a high question of Imperial British foreign policy was unheard of, it bordered almost on a declaration of independence, and the statesmen of the British government were thrown into a fright.

The interests of the Pacific Dominions were in common with those of the United States in the Pacific and Far Eastern situation. As an example, did they not bar Japanese immigration from their shores as did the United States, with even more rigid restrictions?

There is no doubt that high officials of this government were privately gratified at this attitude of the Dominion Premiers, and there is also no doubt that this government, not officially, but in fact, was looking to the Dominion Premiers in London to save the situation. The following bit of significant and hitherto unpublished information shows the trend of the American government's opinion in the days just preceding the calling of the Washington conference:

The question of creating a main battleship fleet in the Pacific, by concentrating either all or the most powerful of the American battleships on the west coast, was up for decision by President Harding and his Cabinet. Discussing this question with the writer one day, a high official of the government said, in substance:

"I am strongly in favor of this move. It wouldn't be a step directed against Japan, but the question is simply one of insuring one's own house. Anyway, we are looking to the Dominion Premiers in London to protect our interests."

Because of the delicate diplomatic situation, this question is understood to have been passed upon by Secretary Hughes, and the Navy Department's plans are believed to have been moderated, so that only the newest and most powerful of the American dreadnaughts, the oil-burning types, were sent out to the Pacific Coast, to replace the older battleships. But, in effect, a main battleship fleet was regarded here as having been created in the Pacific.

During the meeting of the Imperial conference in London, Secretary Hughes is understood to have made plain to Great Britain, through his conversations here with British Ambassador Geddes and in similar conversations which Ambassador Harvey, acting on instructions from Washington, had in London with leaders of the British government, the feeling of opposition in this country to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

Meanwhile, the British government had ruled that the Alliance, in accordance with its terms, was to continue automatically for another year, but there was no decision on its continuance for a future term of years.

Ambassador Harvey had been privately "feeling out" the British government and representatives of other powers on the disarmament question, and soon after the Pacific and Far Eastern situation was being anxiously discussed. The two questions seemed to dove-tail into the present conference to be held here on these two great problems.

Later, Lord Curzon, the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, conferred with Ambassador Harvey, and, recognizing the dilemma of his government, is understood to have declared that Great Britain was ready to have a frank discussion of these questions with the United States. Harvey reported to Secretary Hughes that Great Britain was ready for a conference.

Hubges is understood to have received that cable on the morning of Saturday, July 9. Shortly after, he went to the White House with Harvey's dispatch. The decison to call the conference was reached in an hour's conference with President Harding. Hughes came away and sent his communications to the powers, stating the President was prepared to call a conference on limitation of armament and Pacific and Far Eastern problems, and asking if they would accept a formal invitation. The announcement to the press was made the next day.

"The Misleading Lady" Here as Feature Photoplay

In "The Misleading Lady," which comes as the feature attraction at the Lyceum Theatre for a run of two days, beginning tonight, local motion picture patrons will be treated to a screen version of the notable play by Charles Goddard and Paul Dickey, which enjoyed such a triumphant success on the New York stage.

More than that, they will see Bert Lytell, that versatile and gifted young actor who has won an undisputed niche in screendom. He has the dashing role of Jack Craigen, the confirmed woman hater whose first appearance in effete New York after a stay in South Africa brings with it his complete surrender to beautiful Helen Steele. Only after he has made his avowal does Craigen learn that she made him propose to prove her fitness for a leading part at a millionaire's "little theatre." Infuriated by such treatment, Craigen abducts her to his shooting lodge and proceeds to a brusque wooing, which begins with the lady chained, and ends with a breathless episode in which he wins against the claims of Helen's fiance.

The story, with its quick tempo and its delicious sparkling humor, which critics say is conveyed on the screen far more effectively than it was on the footlights.

The famous "Singer Midgets" will also appear on the same program in a 2-reel comedy.

MARKETING THE "SPUDS"

At this season of the year, when farmers are marketing their potatoes and thrifty housewives are putting in their winter's supply of "spuds," there is naturally quite a general interest in the condition of the crop and the prices asked. Two Plates Belcng to Brainerd Men, One to a Minneapolis Man, One to Ironton Man

The Dispatch by common consent has been made a sort of headquarters of lost and found articles and among the unclaimed is a list of automobile license number plates. Now the law distinctly states a car shall carry two plates, one at the front and one at the rear end and whoever lost the plate is always put to some inconvenience and trouble explaining where his other plate is.

The Dispatch wrote Secretary of State Mike Holm to trace the ownership of the plates on hand in the Dispatch office and he has given the following information:

No. A-126,239, John Brault, Ironton, Minn.

No. A-36,509, Fred George Smith, 211 Northeast Fourth Avenue.

No. B-21,923, A. P. Cardle, 615 Pine street, Brainerd.

As there are automobile owners on the Dispatch force who recognize the inconvenience of losing a number plate, further correspondence has been entered into notifying the Minneapolis and Ironton men of the recovery of their plates.

U. S. JUDGE FLAYS DRY LAW EVADERS

Minneapolis, Oct. 19—Responsibility for law enforcement arising from the 18th amendment rests upon every citizen, United States District Judge Joseph Tillman Johnson said today, in imposing a fine of $400 on a man who admitted he had shown "some men from Kansas where they could get it." J. W. Collins was arrested July 2 and charged with possession of liquor, after federal agents had raided the B. & B. garage, 143 Ninth St. N., of which he is one-third owner, and found 82 quarts of liquor in a car standing on the floor and in lockers in the gararge. Charges against Le Roy A. Boiduc and Frank G. Barbeau, partners in the business, were nolled by Judge Johnson when Collins admitted full responsibility for presence of the liquor.

"Citizens think it clever and justifiably not only to evade the Volstead law, but to show others how to do it," Judge Johnson said.

"My judgment is that it is the sacred duty of every citizen to cultivate, by conduct and by spirit, a proper regard for this, as well as greater and lesser laws of the land."

Soon to Leave Brainerd to Assume Pastorate of a Large Lutheran Church in Minneapolis

Rev. Elof G. Carlson, pastor of the Clara Lutheran church and for many years identified in civic life here, who is soon to leave to assume the pastorate of a large church in Minneapolis, will be the honor guest at a banquet at the Ransford hotel at 7 o'clock Friday evening, October 21, tendered him by a large group of friends.

Rev. Carlson during the war was one of the active workers of the Red Cross and as head of his department did much to alleviate distress. For many years he served on the board of education as a member from the fifth ward.

Rev. Eolf G. Carlson

His church work like his civic work stamped him as a man who was constantly building up and improving the community. It is with regret that many of his Brainerd friends relize he will soon leave this community and they wish that he take with him the best wishes and God speed of the friends here.

The pastor, in a way, still retains his interest in the Ten Thousand Lakes region, having acquired a lake site near Hackensack and having this summer erected a beautiful cottage there.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES OF TODAY

Floyd Hall had a funny experience in the Pine River country. He bought a Saxon used car in Brainerd and noticed that when he traveled past Nisswa and other points, his car was being eyed. At Nisswa he bought oil and some garage man telephoned ahead that Hall had a Saxon that was on the posted list. At Pine River four men joined the hunt and trailed Floyd. At length it came to a show down and when the self-appointed committee examined available car data they found they had been entirely mistaken and apologized. They supposed the Saxon was one which somebody had appropriated in Sauk Rapids.

Annual Session Held in Luverne and Dr. A. H. Carver, Formerly of Brainerd, Was Host

BRAINERD MAY GET SESSION

Rev. S. M. Kelly of Brainerd Elected Chairman Committee on Church Erection

The Minnesota Synod of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. held its annual session in the First Presbyterian Church of Luverne, with Dr. A. H. Carver, a former pastor of the Brainerd church, as host. The attendance of commissioners was large, in spite of the fact that the meeting was held in the extreme corner of the state and it was the unanimous consent of those present that Dr. Carver and his congregation excelled as to the cordiality and warmth of the entertainment.

The Synod was enthusiastic and optimistic and had good reason. Of the forty-six synods, under the General Assembly, Minnesota stands in first place in per capita givings to benevolences of the church and a very decided gain was made in membership during the past year and altogether the outlook was bright.

An interesting discussion centered around the question of re-uniting the Presbyteries of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Overtures were sent from both Presbyteries asking that they be reunited but opposition had developed and the question was returned to each presbytery again.

An item of local interest is that Rev. Martin Johnson, pastor of the M. E. Church at Deerwood until recently, was appointed Sunday school missionary for the Presbytery of Red River to succeed Rev. Dr. Sharpless who retired this spring on account of impaired health. Rev. Mr. Johnson has moved to North Broadway in Brainerd and will make this city his headquarters.

Rev. S. M. Kelly, pastor of the local church, was elected chairman of the Synod's committee on church erection for the fifth year. Mr. Kelly states that if the building program of the church is carried out in this state as planned there will be approximately one and a half to two million dollars expended in this department in Minnesota next year.

Mankato was chosen as the place of meeting for next year and it is possible that Brainerd will be the next choice.

Brainerd Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Brainerd story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Peter Abear, retired confectioner, 224 Laurel St., Brainerd, says: "I got in a bad condition due to kidney complaint. It hurt me to stoop or lie down and there was always an ache through my sides and hips. When I caught cold, the trouble became worse but I used Doan's Kidney Pills and was soon relieved."

Mr. Abear gave the above statement October 28, 1913, and on August 19, 1921, he added: "I can always say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I have used them they have always given me splendid results so I gladly confirm my former statement."

OWNERS OF AUTO LICENSE NUMBERS

Dispatch Recipient of Four Plates Advertised and Not Claimed by Their Owners

SECRETARY OF STATE WRITTEN

Two Plates Belcng to Brainerd Men, One to a Minneapolis Man, One to Ironton Man

The Dispatch by common consent has been made a sort of headquarters of lost and found articles and among the unclaimed is a list of automobile license number plates. Now the law distinctly states a car shall carry two plates, one at the front and one at the rear end and whoever lost the plate is always put to some inconvenience and trouble explaining where his other plate is.

The Dispatch wrote Secretary of State Mike Holm to trace the ownership of the plates on hand in the Dispatch office and he has given the following information:

No. A-126,239, John Brault, Ironton, Minn.

No. A-36,509, Fred George Smith, 211 Northeast Fourth Avenue.

No. B-114,661, F. O. Fogelmark, 4200 Aldrich Avenue South, Minneapolis.

No. B-21,923, A. P. Cardle, 615 Pine street, Brainerd.

As there are automobile owners on the Dispatch force who recognize the inconvenience of losing a number plate, further correspondence has been entered into notifying the Minneapolis and Ironton men of the recovery of their plates.

U. S. JUDGE FLAYS DRY LAW EVADERS

Minneapolis, Oct. 19—Responsibility for law enforcement arising from the 18th amendment rests upon every citizen, United States District Judge Joseph Tillman Johnson said today, in imposing a fine of $400 on a man who admitted he had shown "some men from Kansas where they could get it." J. W. Collins was arrested July 2 and charged with possession of liquor, after federal agents had raided the B. & B. garage, 143 Ninth St. N., of which he is one-third owner, and found 82 quarts of liquor in a car standing on the floor and in lockers in the garage. Charges against Le Roy A. Boiduc and Frank G. Barbeau, partners in the business, were nolled by Judge Johnson when Collins admitted full responsibility for presence of the liquor.

"Citizens think it clever and justifiably not only to evade the Volstead law, but to show others how to do it," Judge Johnson said.

"My judgment is that it is the sacred duty of every citizen to cultivate, by conduct and by spirit, a proper regard for this, as well as greater and lesser laws of the land."

WICKEDEST BUFFALO IS EXECUTED BY OWNER

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 18—Geronimo, the wickedest old buffalo bull that ever lowered his shaggy head, is dead. Geronimo was owned by Charles Irwin, of the Y-6 ranch.

But Geronimo's meanness increased with age. Wire fences meant nothing to him, and the buffalo became a common sight on many ranches. Naturally, ranchmen cursed Geronimo's existence as their cattle escaped through the gaps in the fences. Reports of badly gored cattle came to Irwin, and one morning a particularly fine bull was found disemboweled. A few hours later, Geronimo appeared at his wallow, his head matted with blood.

And so, on circumstantial evidence, the big buffalo was executed by Irwin. His head, with its wickedly gleaming eyes hangs on the wall of the living room of the Y-6 ranch house. His hide makes a beautiful rug.

"And his spirit," reads the signboard above his grave, erected by cowboys on the Y-6, "is to be found among the phantom herds of Paradise, where Geronimo, the bison incarnation of the devil himself, has ceased his roaming and fence-walking and treacherous charges, to find happiness in the society of his kind."

SEARCHING TUNNELS FOR $33,000,000

Denver, Colo., Oct. 18—Two Colorado men, William Barker and Charles Lee, of Lake City, believe they are on the trail of $33,000,000 in gold and silver bars.

They believe that Treasure Peak, in the San Juan range of the Rockies, is the secret cache of treasure taken by a band of Spaniards and Frenchmen hundreds of years ago. Both men declare they have found the shaft used by this band of Spaniards and Frenchmen.

At the bottom of the shaft, they claim, a stone tablet giving a complete description and diagram of how the treasure could be located, was found. Somewhere in the forgotten tunnels of Treasure Peak is hidden 3,516 large bars of gold and silver, according to the stone chart, and Baker and Lee expect to start their treasure hunt in the mountain at once.

ISADORE DUNCAN TO STAY IN RUSSIA

Paris, Oct. 19.—Isadora Duncan, the famous dancer, likes Russia, "where Art is not crushed by Commercialism," is going to stay there. Several months ago Isadora went to Moscow to establish a school to teach the Russian children impressionistic dancing, under the auspices of the Bolsheviks.

In a letter to Humanite, the Socialist newspaper here, Isadora writes: "You ask my impressions. I can give only the impressions of an artist. I quit Europe, where Art is crushed by Commercialism. I am convinced that in Russia the greatest miracle in two thousand years is happening. Those who live in the next hundred years will realize that humanity, through the communist regime, took a great step in advance. The martyrdom that Russia is suffering for the sake of the future will prove as fertile as that of the martyrdom of the Nazarene. Only the fraternity of the workers of the world can save civilization."
